'Plot' By U.S. Is Claimed

Syrian Says He's Target For Assassins

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Maj. Gen. Afif Bizry, new army chief of staff, charged Tuesday he was marked for assassination in a plot he said the United States directed against the Syrian government.

At the same time Syria told the United Nations the United States conspired to overthrow the Damascus government but the Syrians refrained from asking for any U.N. action.

In the story told here Bizry said his chief staff officers also were marked for death. The soft-spoken, 43-year-old commander made his appearance at an interview arranged for a group of western newsmen.

American 'Gangsters'

"They were to send gangsters to our houses to kill us," Bizry said. "They were gangsters made in America."

The general declared Howard E. Stone, the U.S. embassy's second secretary for political affairs, was the mastermind. Stone was one of three U.S. diplomats ousted from Syria last week.

Besides himself, Bizry said, the targets included Brig. Amin Nufour, the new deputy chief of staff, and Col. Abdul Hamid Sarraj, the army's powerful intelligence chief.

"The prime purpose was to kill staff officers who opposed American policy," Bizry said. "They wanted the head of every honest man. We have the evidence."

"Democracy, according to Stone, was to put an end to the honest people of this country... he wanted to make my two children orphans."

Bizry told his story shortly after Syria instructed its U.N. delegation to accuse the United States before the Security Council of promoting the purported conspiracy to unseat President Shukri Kuwaty's leftist regime.

Kuwaty is in an Egyptian hospital at Alexandria.

(In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles was reported giving much of his personal attention to the situation. In various capitals, North Atlantic and Baghdad Pact allies consulted urgently over possible action to counter Syria's swing to the left. Informed diplomats in London said two possible courses were being discussed:

(1. A show of strength such as the U.S. fleet operations in the Mediterranean when Jordan tottered last April.

(2. A campaign to arouse Middle East nations fearful of Communism to quarantine Syria.)

Boy, 7, Threatening 10-Year-Old Finally Meets His Downfall

OMAHA — A 7-year-old boy was turned over to juvenile authorities Tuesday for extorting 40 cents from a 10-year-old and threatening to beat up the older boy if he didn't pay.

The 7-year-old's downfall came officers said, when he tried the same thing on the same boy two weeks later.

This time the older boy called his father.

JAMES EDWARD M. THOMSON... victim of Arizona automobile accident.

Thomson Killed In Accident

Local Doctor's Son, Former Lincolnite, Dies Of Injuries

FLORENCE, Ariz. — James Edward M. Thomson, 32, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. M. Thomson of Lincoln, died Tuesday night as a result of an auto accident near here.

The Associated Press reported Mr. Thomson died of head injuries suffered when his auto smashed into a bridge abutment.

Highway Patrolman Harold Johnson said the former Lincolnite was driving alone when his car left the road one mile west of Florence Junction at Queen Creek Bridge.

Johnson said Mr. Thomson tried to bring the car back on the road but instead smashed into the bridge. He suffered fractures of the jaw, mouth, nose and other head injuries.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Thomson was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and played on the Varsity football team.

His wife is the former Virginia Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Walter of Columbus, Neb. The Thomsons have four children, James, Kathleen, John and Janet.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomson left Columbus late this spring to make their home in Arizona.

Mr. Thomson's father is chairman of the State Health Board.

Topping Quits Development Post At NWU

Marvin Topping, has resigned as director of the Program of Development at Nebraska Wesleyan University to accept a similar position at George Washington University.

Topping will direct a 20 million dollar program there when he assumes his new duties Sept. 1, 1956, after serving for six years as executive secretary of the American College Public Relations Association. He previously had held public relations responsibilities at Union College in Kentucky and the Medical College of Virginia.

While at Wesleyan he had been in charge of an 8 million dollar long range development program. Approximately $506,000 had been received at Wesleyan in gifts and pledges during his administration.

Hearing Slated On Dissolution Of District 49

A public hearing concerning petitions asking for dissolution of School District 49 has been set for 10 a.m. Aug. 31, Lancaster County Superintendent Glenn Turner reported Tuesday.

The district, located about two miles east and one mile north of Crete, has not been operating since 1943, Turner added. The superintendent reported the petitions filed with his office ask the district be dissolved and the area divided between Lancaster County Districts 144 and 156 and Saline County District 18.

A previous attempt at dissolution of the district in May failed because of difficulties in securing petition signatures in the Crete town district Turner said. But this time this district has been omitted from the proposed division of District 49.

-Two Injured- Road Crash Kills 2

Car, Truck Hit Near Stockham

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Two persons were killed Tuesday afternoon in a car-truck collision at a county crossroads on the south edge of Stockham, Neb., some 12 miles south of Aurora, Neb.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Pete Brandstrup and Maylin Wagner, both about 60, and both from Boius, Neb.

Hamilton County Sheriff Ralph Spry said Mrs. Brandstrup was killed instantly and Wagner died shortly after the accident in an Aurora hospital.

Sheriff Spry said the car driven by Wagner was in collision with a truck driven by Francis Masek, Odell, Neb.

The sheriff said Mrs. Brandstrup and Wagner were in the same car. He said Masek was thrown free from his truck and escaped injury.

Masek's brother Cecil suffered a shoulder injury, and his son, John, head cuts and bruises, the sheriff said. The two men, both Masek's passengers, were in an Aurora hospital.

The deaths brought the Nebraska traffic fatality toll to 172 for the year, compared with 183 at this time last year.

Anderson Statement Opens Politicking

Others Non-Committal As Governor Announces Third-Term Try

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Anderson's announcement Tuesday that he would be a candidate for a third term, started the political ball bouncing over the state, but not in any conclusive manner since most potential gubernatorial candidates were non-committal.

Frederick H. Wagener of Lincoln, often-rumored as a candidate either for the Republican nomination for governor or first district congressman, declined to say flatly what his political intentions are.

He did say however, that Anderson's announcement "settles to some extent what my future intentions will be."

Wagener said he felt if Anderson wanted a third term, "there's no reason why he shouldn't have it... there's ample precedent for a third term."

The former Lancaster County Attorney said he was "glad" the governor had made his announcement, adding that it would have "a great deal to do with what I decide, but I am not as yet ready to make an announcement."

Wagener said he was giving "serious consideration to running for the Republican nomination for first district congressman," the post now held by Phil Weaver, Rep., of Falls City.

Anderson defeated Wagener for the Republican nomination for governor in 1954.

On the Democratic side of the ticket, State Demo Chairman Willard Townsend of Lincoln, said Anderson's announcement "finds the Democrats not at all surprised because his activities have been building toward a third term."

Townsend said the Democratic Party's "potential candidates are non-committal at this time, but we expect to put a strong slate of state candidates in the field in 1958."

Frank Sorrell of Syracuse, Demo gubernatorial candidate in 1956, said he would not run for the office again, "unless the party drafts me, and I don't think they'll do that the second time in a row."

"I had fine support from the Democratic Party in the last campaign," the Syracuse auctioneer stated, "and I would like to be a candidate, but it's hard to be able to afford it financially."

Sorrell said he would like to see Frank Morrison file for the office, commenting that "Morrison made a strong showing in the last election and would be a wonderful candidate, as would our party leader, Willard Townsend."

Sorrell further stated that the Democratic Party "has some fine timber" as gubernatorial prospects and cited Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala and former Sen. Otto Koutouc Jr. of Humboldt.

McGinley, mentioned several times during the last Legislature as a possible candidate as chief executive, when queried Tuesday, said, "Personal interests prevent me from being a candidate for the office of governor."

"No Political Plans"

Lincoln attorney Frank Morrison, previous Demo candidate for governor and the party's nominee for lieutenant governor in 1956, said, "I'm happily engaged in the practice of law and have no political plans at this time."

Lawrence Brock of Wakefield, Demo candidate for Third District Congressman in 1956 who lost in a see-saw battle to Republican incumbent Robert Harrison of Norfolk, said he had "not determined at this time whether he would be a candidate for governor or congressman."

Brock said he did not expect to make a decision on the matter until "next January."

In Omaha, Democratic National Committeeman Bernard J. Boyle said he was "not surprised" at Anderson's announcement, "although he had previously announced that he would not again be a candidate for governor."

Boyle said, "The ever-mounting burden of taxation resulting from his (Anderson's) Republican administration, if not halted, will result in the 'hair-curling' suggested by their own Republican spokesmen."

The national committeeman continued, "The budget-conscious slogan of holding the line in Nebraska, when viewed in the light of the highest appropriation Nebraska has ever known, demonstrates unequivocally a conscious and deliberate purpose of deception."

"The citizens of Nebraska are entitled to tax-saving officials instead of officials who seek to perpetuate themselves in office," Boyle declared, "and who are seeking new means of placing additional taxes on the citizens of Nebraska."

The Democratic spokesman added, "We hope the electorate will become aware of the irrefutable, cold, hard facts and that it's high time for a change."

Director's Daughter Tells Of Wild Party ... CONFIDENTIAL TRIAL

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An adopted daughter of movie director William Wellman testified Tuesday that a Confidential magazine story about an alleged wild party at Actor John Carroll's home in 1947 was true.

The story, read into the record at the scandal magazine's trial on criminal libel charges, said female guests swam in the nude at the affair and one of them found Carroll sharing a bed with a blonde.

Gloria Wellman, tall, thirtyish, with long dark hair, said she has long been estranged from her father, one of Hollywood's leading directors.

Testifying for the defense, she said she attended the party and other guests included actor Forrest Tucker and the late band leader Jimmy Dorsey.

She said that when another woman guest asked to see Carroll, she took the woman to his bedroom.

"I sat on the edge of the bed," she said. "Carroll was in the bed and a blonde was in it, too."

Miss Wellman described herself as a housewife but did not reveal her husband's name.

Advised To See Them

She testified that a mutual friend advised her to see Fred and Marjorie Meade, operators of Hollywood Research Inc., which the prosecution contends is Confidential's film and story gathering arm. They are co-defendants in the trial.

She said she was paid $200 for her story of the party and later was paid $500 and $100 for two other stories.

The defense has been limited by court ruling to calling witnesses to testify only about 13 stories read into the court record. It is on these that the prosecution bases its case. The Carroll party story is one of these.

Miss Wellman's testimony followed introduction of novels by authors such as John Steinbeck and Mickey Spillane, and of news stories describing accusations that actress Maureen O'Hara consorted with a Mexican businessman.

The morning session found the defense offering a flood of literature in an effort to show that Confidential and its sister magazine, Whisper, published material no more obscene than that which appeared in many other publications.

Daniel Ross, New York attorney for Confidential, testified that by comparison with some stories offered the public, Confidential's articles are "really fairly tales as far as obscenity is concerned."

The newspaper clippings recounted her ex-mate's charges against Miss O'Hara after their 1952 divorce.

The ex-husband, New York television executive Will Price, charged in seeking custody of their daughter that Miss O'Hara was an unfit mother and was "openly living and consorting" with Mexican businessman Enrico Parra. Miss O'Hara and Parra denied this.

Later, however, Price dropped the custody action and told a court that upon further investigation he had found his charges to be untrue.

Man Held In Theft

A 26-year-old man was booked into city jail early Wednesday morning by police in connection with a burglary of a concession at Oak Lake. Forty-two packs of cigarettes was taken from the stand, managed by Mrs. Alma Jorgenson.

Medic-Pilot Simons Soars Over 19 Miles

Tired Balloonist Comes Down In North Dakota; Aloft 32 Hours

From Press Reports
ELLENDALE, N. D.—Fatigued but happy, an Air Force doctor-pilot ended 32 hours of exploring outer space late Tuesday when he brought the gondola of his huge plastic balloon to earth after soaring to an estimated record 19 1/2-mile height.

Dr. David G. Simons, 34, was immediately picked up by helicopter and flown 120 miles to the Fargo, N. D. airport where he shaved for the first time in 48 hours. He used two electric razors for the job.

Col. John T. Stapp, rocket sled expert and an Air Force physician, said Simons' condition was excellent except for the fatigue.

Before getting on a plane for the trip to Minneapolis, Simons stepped into a telephone booth to call his wife at Alamogordo, N. M.

As Simons stepped from the balloon gondola, he was asked his most exciting experience and he replied:

"Getting back to earth."

Simons said it was nice to see the sun's rays diffused by the world's atmosphere.

"I've been riding around in a sky that was purple black, even in daytime, and then it got darker at night."

Simons, ordered to start down at 8:30 a.m. (CDT) Tuesday, finally brought the giant polyethylene bag down on the shores of Elm Lake at 5:28 p.m. The lake is on the North Dakota-South Dakota border about 10 miles southwest of Ellendale.

Nine-Hour Tussle

Ground winds shifted the balloon over precariously during Simons' nine-hour battle to get the gondola and its cargo of instruments safely down.

He suffered a slight cut on the chin when the gondola tipped over before the balloon could be cut loose.

"You can tell the folks that, up high, the stars don't twinkle, they just burn," he said in a brief interview.

Radar trackers estimated the balloon hit the record 102,000 foot level over Wahpeton, N.D. early Tuesday. Confirmation will await calibration of instruments the balloon carried.

It Descends Again

Upon landing, Simons cut loose the gondola and the balloon soared again. But after reaching altitude of about 1,500 feet, it came down three miles west of the landing site and was later torn to pieces by souvenir hunters.

The balloon covered about 400 air miles in the 32 hours.

The 102,000-foot altitude, if confirmed, would be 6,000 feet higher than Capt. Joseph Kittinger rose in June, while testing the equipment Simons used. There were other unconfirmed reports that the 102,000 foot height had been exceeded.

Only one man has climbed higher into space — Capt. Ivan Kincheloe who reached 126,000 feet in a Bell X-2 rocket plane in 1956.

Amazing Experiences

One of the most amazing experiences of his flight, the space balloon expert said, was watching the sunset and sunrise. He said:

"The sunset was like a creeping velvet curtain. When it set I saw shades of purple and black like none I'd ever seen before."

"And the sunrise was suddenly violet, blue, purple and golden—some colors I can't even describe."

The weary flier said that except for a few brief catnaps, he actually went 48 hours without sleep—32 in the air and 16 preparing for the flight.

FIRST FURNITURE ARRIVES FOR GOVERNOR'S MANSION

The first of the furniture which will grace Nebraska's new Governor's mansion has arrived in Lincoln and is being stored in the basement of the Capitol Building.

Padded, packed and crated to the hilt, the shipment included two Empire mahogany consoles with antique tops which will be placed in the foyer, two cane-back chairs with cushions of blue silk damask which will be placed in the state reception room and the mahogany dining table, serving chest and Queen Anne mirror for the state dining room.

The 22 side chairs and two arm chairs for the dining furniture had to be returned because they were upholstered in the wrong material.

Furnishings for the Governor's family room, including two sofas, upholstered in light turquoise, two lounge chairs and ottomans in turquoise and gold and a pine commode, also were in the shipment.

Great bolts of carpeting, including one of gold, another of blue, and one of white nylon, are now stored in vaults of the Capitol.

The silver chandelier for the family dining room and two gold and crystal chandeliers for the front entrance, and the huge chandelier for the foyer also arrived in this first shipment.

Building Superintendent Lowell Lindquist said the items will be covered with plastic sheets, then tarpaulin, awaiting the day when the mansion is finished—now anticipated to be late fall.

Hoffa Testifies He Borrowed $120,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa testified Tuesday he has borrowed around $120,000 since 1952 and has invested in such things as a girls' camp, a heavy-weight boxer and a brewery.

He gave the testimony to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, which showed much curiosity about his finances.

Most of the loans making up the total were shown as having come from fellow unionists or locals in the teamsters union, some from men identified by committee counsel as men with criminal records, and some from employers who had dealings with the union.

Hoffa, midwestern chief of the teamsters, said most of the loans from individuals were made to him without interest and without security of any kind. He said his friends became indignant when he suggested giving them notes.

Still Owes $70,000

He said he figures he still owes $70,000 of the $120,000.

Hoffa, who is expected to be elected president of the Teamsters international union next month was carried into an involved financial discussion.

Just where the trail was intended to lead was not made immediately clear by Counsel Robert F. Kennedy.

As Hoffa went over a list of piece-loans adding up to the $120,000, Kennedy would ask him each time why he borrowed the money.

In tones of strained patience, Hoffa would reply it was for investment, or to meet other needs he couldn't recall exactly. He said he re-loaned some of the money to others.

After Tuesday's session ended, Chairman McClellan (D-Ark

Gov. Victor Anderson To Seek Third Term

Nebraska's Chief Executive Will Stand On Past Record

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska Governor Victor Anderson Tuesday announced his intention to file as a Republican candidate for a third term as the state's chief executive, making him the first announced candidate for the 1958 gubernatorial campaign.

Anderson said it will be his policy "to continue to give the citizens of Nebraska a sound, economical administration, directed at holding the line on state spending."

GOV. ANDERSON . . . will run again.

The governor said his record was "well known" to the people of Nebraska, and that if it is "their will that this program be continued for the next two years I shall do my utmost to keep their faith and confidence."

The past two and a half years have all had "trials and tribulations," Anderson commented, "years of drought and hardship on many of our people but through it all I have found Nebraska folks wonderful to work with."

Anderson said it was his duty and purpose to administer the state's business with the "same care and integrity practiced in any successful private business."

Credits Fellow-Workers

He credited his "fellow workers—department heads and all other state employees" for their "splendid co-operation and willingness to give the maximum amount of work and to practice economy in government."

The governor added that this had made possible "an actual tax reduction in the state property taxes for the year 1957" referring to the tax levied in 1956 which was payable in 1957.

The state's property tax levy in 1956 was 8.09 mills, down nine-tenths of a mill from the 1955 levy. With an increase in the state's share of institutional costs, the levy rose in 1957 to 8.23 mills.

Gov. Anderson said his intention to hold the line on government spending was "clearly outlined in the budget I recommended to the Legislature for the next biennium . . . a budget that did not call for a tax increase in the next two years."

'Must Not Relax'

"Although some of the would-be spenders and pressure groups point to the fact that the cost of state government in Nebraska is the second lowest per capita in the nation, we must not relax our vigilance," he commented.

Anderson said he must "practice the thrift and economy we have been taught . . . and not burden our people beyond our ability to pay."

Asked if he had any desire to run for an office other than as the state's chief executive, Anderson said he had "no political ambition to be anything but governor."

He did not close the door however to a possible short-term appointment as U.S. Senator if such an event should occur.

Anderson said he had heard of no other potential candidates on the Republican ticket for governor, but commented that "everyone has a right to file . . . I don't think I have a priority on the office."

10-YEAR-OLD SENATE PAGE YOUNGEST EVER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten-year-old Robert Stricklin is helping the U.S. Senate out of a jam.

He's one of the youngest Senate pages in years and his job tenure will probably be the shortest. It ends with this session of Congress.

It's all because the Senate session is running so late that some of the regular pages had to leave to get ready for college.

Sen. Case (R-Sd) said he appointed peppy, bubbling blond Robert to the post of page when he got an appeal to do something about the growing shortage of Senate pages. The required age for pages is 14, but right now they're not being fussy.

Robert, whose nickname is Tuck, jumped at the chance and the pay of $35 a week—the most he's ever earned.

Special Soldier Gets Special Care

Cpl. "Mike," mascot of Lincoln's 86th Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, apparently isn't too impressed by the special attention he's receiving from an airlines hostess on the flight to southern California.

Cpl. John C. Gemick, 1747 Sewell St., watches the proceedings perhaps with some envy. The reserve outfit is doing two weeks summer training with the Landing Force Training Unit at Coronado, California.

Gatherings Then Forbidden

Rock Drops Cop During Levittown Race Dispute

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A Bristol township policeman was felled Tuesday night by a rock thrown from a milling crowd gathered once again in this suburban Philadelphia community of 15,000 homes to protest the residence of its first Negro family.

State police immediately announced that hereafter they would not permit any gatherings larger than three persons.

The rock was tossed as an unruly crowd estimated by State Police Lt. J. M. Wicker at about 400, gathered outside the ranch style home of William Myers. The thrower of the rock was unidentified.

Sgt. Tom Stewart was struck on the head, falling to the ground with blood gushing from his right ear. An ambulance was called and the fallen policeman taken to a hospital.

'That's It!'

As Stewart fell to the ground an unidentified policeman yelled "that's it! Let's get them out of here." With that, some 20 state and local police ran for the group, which dispersed in a twinkling through a wooded area.

A 15-year-old boy was picked up as the crowd scattered and held on an open charge. Police identified him as Paul Sullivan of Levittown.

Another teenage boy and an adult also were picked up on open charges during the tense evening. They were identified as

Ailing Sgt. York To Attend Day In His Honor

JAMESTOWN, Tenn. (AP) — The best remembered hero of World War I leaves his house for the first time in three years Wednesday to attend the "Sergeant York Day" celebration here.

Alvin C. York, ailing but still full of life, will be presented an automobile, especially designed to carry his wheelchair, by the 82nd Airborne Division Assn.

The 69-year-old soldier, paralyzed by a stroke in 1954, is the division's only living Medal of Honor winner from the First World War. In the Argonne, York single-handedly killed 25 Germans and captured 130.

The day has been designated by Gov. Clement as "Sergeant York Day" throughout Tennessee.

News Rules Changed By Sec. Wilson

...On Military Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson Tuesday deleted from regulations on the release of military information a requirement that such news must make a "constructive contribution" to national security.

The change was one of several included in a revision of military information directives.

Murray Snyder, assistant secretary of Defense for public affairs, said the "irritating phrase" about a constructive contribution had been misconstrued by such critics as Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) chairman of the House government information subcommittee.

Flatter, Cover Up

Snyder said Moss had expressed fear that the requirement might be used by Defense officials to flatter the department or to cover up mistakes.

Moss said the changes appear to be improvements.

Snyder said the new directive left unchanged the basic meaning and intent of the Pentagon's attitude toward release of information.

The rewritten directive states specifically that information originating within the Defense establishment must be reviewed for "conflict with established policies of programs" as well as for violations of security.

The revised order also requires defense agencies or departments to submit proposed news releases, photographs or official speeches for review "not less than five days in advance" of publication. The older directive required only three days.

The new directive also requires reviewing officers, when refusing clearance of submitted items for security reasons, to give a brief explanation of the reason for rejection.

Pretty American Found Dead In Argentine Hotel

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Police broke into a locked hotel room and found a pretty New York woman, clad in a nightgown, dead on the bathroom floor.

The hotel register listed her as Clare Marguerite Kelly of New York City. Police said she was 31. "It was understood she had been taking sleeping pills, and other pills which had the opposite effect," a U.S. consulate spokesman said. "Police don't know when she died or how."

Miss Kelly registered Aug. 8 at the hotel, the Alvear Palace, in a swank part of Buenos Aires. The consulate spokesman said he understood she arrived in May.

A hotel reception clerk said "she was a nice girl, good-looking, cultured and quiet."

State Guardsmen Progressing To All-Weather Jets

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Pilots of the 173rd Fighter-Interceptor squadron of the Nebraska Air National Guard are making rapid progress in converting to all-weather jet planes.

Lt. Col. Fred H. Bailey of Lincoln, who commands the squadron, said the 34 pilots of the unit will be well checked out in use of radar in the F-86D all-weather Sabrejet.

The unit has been using F-80 Shooting Star until this year. Lt. Col. Bailey said his outfit is the second to make the switch to all-weather craft.

The Lincoln outfit is in the first week of a two-week summer training period at Natrona County Airport in Casper.

Publishers Are Denied Court Order

...In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Publishers of Detroit's three newspapers failed Tuesday in their efforts to obtain a court order that would permit resumption of publication.

The big dailies, numbering some 1,300,000 readers in the Detroit area, have been closed since Saturday by a labor dispute of the International Mailers Union (IMU) at the Detroit News, The Detroit Times and the Free Press suspended publication under a publishers' agreement that a strike against one is a strike against all.

The Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn., representing all three newspapers, sought to end the dispute by applying for a circuit court injunction against the mailers union and the teamsters union to prevent them from interfering with publication.

No 'Proof of Violence'

Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore ruled Tuesday that the state courts of Michigan lack jurisdiction to grant an injunction unless there is proof of violence. The judge said the publishers and the union should settle their differences before the National Labor Relations Board.

Judge Gilmore granted the publishers until Thursday to produce proof of violence or threat of violence.

In their plea for an injunction, the newspapers charged a conspiracy between the mailers and the teamsters to interfere with publication.

The teamsters refused to cross the mailers' picket line at the News. The teamsters said they feared bodily harm. Rockwell T. Gust, attorney for the publishers, called the statement of the teamsters "a pretext and a sham."

Millionaire Dies

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Charles J. Iten, 75, millionaire industrialist and philanthropist, died in Ashtabula General hospital. The founder and president of the Iten Fiber Co., with plants in Ashtabula and Illinois, had gone to the hospital for a routine examination.

U.S. BATTLESHIP HITS BOTTOM DURING STORM

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Atlantic Fleet headquarters said Tuesday the battleship Wisconsin scraped bottom near a sea buoy off Cape Henry in Monday's northeast storm which struck the Norfolk area.

A fleet spokesman said the mishap occurred when the Wisconsin was turning into the wind and sea to secure objects on deck.

She is expected to return to port Thursday for underwater inspection prior to sailing for September exercises with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Two Fined For Prank Of The 'Bloody Hand'

Two Lincoln youths pleaded guilty and were each fined $10 Tuesday in Municipal Court on disturbing the peace charges filed in connection with a "bloody hand" prank Monday night.

The youths, Richard A. Patterson, 19, of 7100 Cuming, and Daniel C. Williams, 18, of 5800 Knox, were among a group of seven teen-age boys arrested by police following numerous reports by motorists of seeing a bloody hand hanging from the trunk of a car driving around in the downtown district.

The car was stopped at Leighton and Corner, and police found the "bloody" hand belonged to Williams, who had smeared cat-sap on his arm and hand. Patterson, police said, was the driver of the car involved.

The other five youths, ranging in age from 13 to 16, were released after questioning. All but the 13-year-old spent the night in jail.

New Relief for Hay Fever Victims with this new Tablet Invention

Clear, free breathing restored in minutes as congested nose-sinus zone is decongested—stops sneezing, watery, itching eyes

Chicago, Ill. (Special) Observers here are hailing a remarkable new advance against the most unrelenting misery of hay fever—congestion in the nose-sinus zone.

A way has been found to decongest this congestion. This is the central fact which has aroused so much interest on the part of hay fever sufferers who have never found satisfactory relief from other medications.

Up to now, nose drops, eye drops, inhalers, sprays and antihistamines have given some measure of relief. But today you can expect much more complete comfort. This new compound reaches all the congested nasal areas from all sides, through the blood stream. It opens stuffed-up, blocked nasal passages. Free breathing is restored in minutes. Stops unpleasant sneezing; watery, itching eyes are cleared.

New Tablet Invention
Take a new kind of tablet—in fact a unique three layer tablet—Dristan—decongests the nose

Auburn Girl, 16, Named Queen

By BILL HINEL
Beatrice Bureau

BEATRICE, Neb. — Miss Marcia Marie Bohling, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bohling of Auburn, was named queen of the Beatrice District Dairy Show here Tuesday.

The queen was chosen by a secret committee on the basis of her 4-H record and achievements. She is a member of the Champion Stock Raisers 4-H Club of Auburn and has exhibited for the past seven years at the Nebraska State Fair and the Ak-Sar-Ben Show at Omaha.

Two Queens At Beatrice Dairy Show

Marcia Marie Bohling, 16, of Auburn, was crowned Queen of the District Dairy Show at Beatrice Tuesday afternoon on the basis of her 4-H achievement record. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bohling of Auburn and has spent nine years in 4-H work. She is shown here with "Susie," her six year old Brown Swiss cow which has won more blue and purple ribbons than Marcia can count. She was 1953 champion of breed at the Ak-Sar-Ben Dairy Show at Omaha. Marcia won four blue ribbons Tuesday on her Junior herd of three animals.

Auburn Senior

In nine years of 4-H work she has taken part in garden, sewing, poultry, cooking, sheep, swine and beef projects and has been junior leader of her club for two years. She will be in her senior year at Auburn High School this fall.

More than 200 animals were entered in the 11th annual District Dairy Show. The show is co-sponsored by the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce, the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, the Cooper Foundation, the Nebraska Dairy Association, the Nebraska Butter Institute and the Nebraska Dairy Industries. Judge was Philip Cole, dairy specialist at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Purple Ribbons

Purple ribbon winners at the show included Lawrence Vitosh of Odell and Sara Rhodes of Beatrice in the Jersey class; Joyce Craig and Marilyn Kapke, both of Fairbury, in the Brown Swiss class; Dorothy Miller, Western and Ron McKeever, Wymore, in the milking shorthorn and Larry Vitosh, Carol Kruger, Sandra Kruger and Glenda Wallen, all of Odell, all in the Holstein class. A showing and fitting contest was to follow the judging.

Champion showman was Jean Lewis of Daykin. Richard Beesley of Beatrice rated first; Jean Henrichs Jr., of Liberty, second; Norman Husa of Barneston, third; and Larry Vitosh of Odell, fourth.

Humane Society To Begin City Membership Drive Thursday

The Humane Society after 50 years of service to Lincoln will launch its first city-wide membership campaign Thursday to gain funds for needed services.

About 200 workers will sell $3 memberships to Lincoln citizens during the week-long campaign to supplement Humane Society funds from dog licensing, boarding fees, sale of unclaimed animals and dues from members.

Funds from membership donations will be used to help support the organization in its work of feeding and caring for stray animals in Lincoln and in the county.

New Shelter Building

A future goal if membership donations this year and in following annual drives permit it, will be a new shelter house building, officials said. The present building at 2320 Park Blvd., "although it looks good on the front" is badly in need of repair from damages done by numerous floods in the low-lying area.

Helene Foe, board of directors member, and vice president of the Humane Society, Wayne Packard, Mrs. Foe commenting on interest shown by Lincoln citizens in volunteering to sell membership tickets in the coming drive, stated she hoped "that the drive itself will meet with such fine response."

'Gain Strong Membership'

No monetary goal has been set for the drive, Mrs. Foe said, but the general goal "is to gain as large and strong a membership as possible."

Volunteers will start a person-to-person selling campaign Thursday morning officials announced. The Humane Society receives no tax funds for its support other than an average $35 monthly fee from the county for collection of dead animals or aid to animals in distress.

In other cities, officers said, humane societies are supported by large subscription drives and by bequests and endowments from wills. During the past 10 years the Lincoln Humane Society has received no endowments or bequests, and has had a membership of 105.

10 New Policemen Sought By Carey

OMAHA (AP)—Lynn Carey, public safety director, said he is asking the Personnel Board for 10 new policemen.

A few days ago Carey had asked for six new officers. But the board delayed certifying the men to Carey from its eligibility list, and asked that the Police Department furnish it with a table of organization before any new men are hired.

Carey sent the table and the additional request along together. Acting Police Chief Harold Ostler told Carey 10 Omaha policemen are taking examinations for appointment to the Phoenix, Ariz., force. All have been on the force more than a year, Ostler said.

The chief said also that about a half dozen Omaha patrolmen took examinations for the Los Angeles department recently, and at least one of those is about to leave.

Diversified Nebraska

Now and then an outstate Nebraska newspaper, a daily or a weekly, treats its readers to an unusual picture. Such a picture appeared on the front page of the Norfolk Daily News near the close of the week, last. It showed Ray Purdy in the center of heavily-laden apple boughs, part of a 10-acre orchard on the Purdy farm south of Norfolk. The thing calculated to attract attention is that as a matter of general knowledge, northeast and central Nebraska and even more, the western Nebraska counties, do not produce fruit commercially, as a rule.

But the Purdy orchard is real, consisting chiefly of red and golden Delicious and Jonathan. There are a few varieties of plums, a huge red one, an Italian type, only larger than its Italian kinfolk, and also a small blue fruited plum resembling the Damsen. The Purdy orchard contains a number of cherry trees but efforts to produce the larger Bing species turned out unsuccessfully because of the harsh winter which resulted in winter killing, and the same fate befell the peaches.

But as a matter of experiment, the owner of the orchard said that the soil near Norfolk seems to be suited to fruit-raising. Trees planted in a neighboring nursery 50 years ago are still alive. And a few trees of an original 10-acre orchard planted on the Fred Shilling farm have survived the cold and all the vicissitudes in a region not favored by nature for fruit-raising.

Had we had a fourth of the propaganda back of the Nebraska Jonathans that has sold other apples in such huge quantities, Nebraska might have become known as the "apple" rather than the "beef state."

Calls Gas Bill Dead

One can take Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas as a dependable authority on subjects that will or will not be treated with by the Congress in its final days.

He has said this Congress will not act on the natural gas bill. There is not enough time left, since this week end has been set as the time Congress intends to adjourn. Speaker Rayburn has the calendar on his side.

The current session is in contrast to the preceding one which made the gas bill the first order of business and dwell more than six weeks on it while such vital questions as the farm program, national defense and inflation were waved away. Then Congress passed a gas bill. But excesses charged against the gas interests in their lobbying activities were given as President Eisenhower's reason for vetoing it. He explained that he favored less regulation for the gas industry in principle.

This session the administration itself caused a gas bill to be introduced, satisfactory enough to the gas interests because it granted in essence the thing it wanted—the right to make more money with less federal discipline.

Some close to Washington maneuvering say that the bill this time did not die for lack of time, but, faded because of a reluctance of too many senators and congressmen to vote for such a measure so soon after the public condemned past behavior. It is just as well that the bill was left to die. It will be a sharp lesson to interests who carry lobbying too far and to lawmakers who allow themselves to be swept along by the excesses. Nothing cools the lobbyists down like a good defeat.

Iowa Farmer's Answer

The farm section of a recent issue of the Des Moines Register carries a provocative story of an incipient Iowa movement to counter the rapid declination of the nation's small acreage farmer. If the farmer-conceived plan works out as well as it has started these middle western states can look forward to a period of great well being.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

There could be more—infinity more—than meets the eye in the announcement that the New York Giants of the National League will call San Francisco home in 1958. Little of New York will not be quite the same, although the Giants have not been front runners in the older major baseball circuit in recent years and the glories that were McGraw, Hubbell and some of the other greats of earlier years are a thing of the past. But baseball being what it is—both a great game and a great business—you simply do not pick up a team and put it down on another spot on the map.

This announcement by the president of the New York baseball club to move the franchise from the most populous metropolitan center in the United States to San Francisco could foreshadow something of extreme interest to the American people, including those millions to whom baseball itself is only a word. It could mark the opening of the more grim stages of the fight between eastern (Atlantic) and western (Pacific) seaboard for supremacy. That struggle for supremacy has been in progress for years, largely unnoticed. The stakes are fabulous. Supremacy not only means dominancy in terms of population but it also suggests that in the shift from East to West so impressively suggested by the phrase, "Westward the empire moves," the day is approaching when the Pacific and not the Atlantic seaboard will become the financial, commercial and political center of the world. The eastern seaboard, shall we say, has seen its better days and even now decline or decay is setting in. The western seaboard is beginning to drink deeply of the heady wine of greatness in its realization of ambition.

San Francisco, of course, is not only one of the most beautiful but also one of the most cosmopolitan cities in the world. There it sits on the hill overlooking the Golden Gate, with the fogs from off the Pacific rolling in and the fresh winds from off the ocean bearing the reminder that while far to the east is an old civilization, yet in between there is freshness and youth and strength. The census of 1950 gave San Francisco a population of 775,357, and metropolitan San Francisco 2,500,000. The same census gave New York a population of 7,891,957, or a metropolis more than 10 times the size of its West Coast rival. The metropolitan area boasted of 13,000,000 people. If population means anything, it is a little bit difficult to understand what stockholders and officers of the New York Giants have in mind.

We have been starved by the reaction of numbers of Nebraska readers to a series of articles written by us from the West Coast. Most of those articles had to do with southern California which now has an approximate 13 million people and which by 1975 anticipates a state population in California of between 20 million and 25 million. There is a section of the world on the march and we do not mean maybe. It has the bit in its teeth and its plans to expand are clear and unchanging. On the same day that announcement was made that the Giants would be transferred to San Francisco, "Goody" Knight let it be known he would be a candidate for governor against California's Sen. Knowland. He would support Vice President Nixon as a candidate for President in 1960 in the Republican national convention. Here was a state with a $2.5 billion cash farm income, a state with an enormously rich fishing industry, a state in which mining and lumbering were important, a state in which the vast oil industry produced fabulous wealth, a state with so many sources of income that it seemed destined to lead the parade for these many years to come.

Now, that is a far cry from baseball but there should be no surprise if two, not one, major league clubs moved to California and the West Coast gains the spot in the sun it long has cherished.

West Coast On The March

These Years Of Daring

Rangers, badmen, cowboys and marshals riding the purple sage, now and then with smoking guns, have provided childhood with stirring flights of fancy. But their deeds will look pale in another generation in the light of today's human feats.

This week Air Force Physician Major David G. Simons rode in a balloon basket 20 miles above the earth, looked far down on a raging South Dakota thunderstorm, looked up into a purple and black sky flaming with a perpetual aurora borealis and recalled that far below him was the state of Minnesota. This truly rates as a tremendous experience for any man, more especially to one who for the first time in the long history of mankind viewed the universe from that height. As an experience that beats anything performed by Diamond Dick or those early minions of the law who brought tranquility to Dodge City by blasting the incentive out of evil planners. It is noteworthy that man now is pushing farther and farther toward the rim of outer space and knowing men the way we do it is a foregone conclusion that some great Lindbergh of the near tomorrow will make the break through. He will go all the way. The past will not seem very provocative or important after that.

Depends On Which Hand Is Doing It

WASHINGTON — Here are some ironies about the breast-beating of the Justice Department for a tough civil rights bill, a bill even tougher than that now urged by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People:

Irony No. 1 — Attorney General Brownell and the Justice Department have played ball for four years with Sen. Jim Eastland of Mississippi, bitterest opponent of civil rights. No judges, U.S. attorneys or U.S. marshals have been appointed in Mississippi without his okay.

Irony No. 2 — Attorney General Brownell gave private backstage encouragement last year to the move to oust the one Negro who is a member of the Republican National Committee, Perry Howard of Mississippi. Howard has been a national committeeman longer than anyone in history—33 years—a matter of pride to Negroes. Brownell encouraged the drive to oust him.

Irony No. 3 — Brownell has been working to build up the Republican party in the South through E. O. Spencer, owner of the Waltham Hotel in Jackson, Miss., in which the Mississippi White Citizens Council was first organized. The council has had an office in room 203 of the hotel. Brownell usually entertains Spencer in his home when the Mississippian comes to Washington.

KEEPING ALIVE THE ISSUE

Irony No. 4 — For four years the Justice Department dragged its feet on civil rights, thereby making it an issue in the 1956 presidential election. Today the Justice Department is opposing the Senate bill, thereby keeping civil rights an issue in the 1958 congressional election.

Sen. Tom Hennings, Missouri Democrat, whose great-grandfather was one of the biggest slaveholders in Georgia, developed some of the facts regarding this stalling in a withering cross-examination of Brownell last year.

"You have come up with no program during your four years, until April 1, I believe," Senator Hennings challenged.

Brownell replied that he had worked on such civil rights as restaurant segregation, discrimination in the armed forces, and kindred measures.

"You know these were initiated in the preceding administration," Hennings was quick to point out.

"A great many of them, yes," Brownell admitted.

"We welcome your suggestion that there be a commission on civil rights in the Department of Justice," Hennings continued. "At my request on March 22, 1955, this letter was addressed to you."

He then read Brownell a letter one year old asking for his views on legislation proposing a civil rights commission.

"There was no reply from you whatsoever over a year ago relating to the establishment of a commission or a division," Hennings pressed.

The attorney general squirmed and sparred. He could give no adequate explanation. Real fact is that while civil rights was being pushed for four years by Hennings and Congressman Celler in the House, they got no help from Brownell or from his Justice Department or from the Eisenhower administration.

TRUMAN ON TOBACCO

Senator Neuberger of Oregon has received a letter from Harry Truman congratulating him on his stand to remove tobacco from the list of basic crops. "When the white man landed in the new world," wrote Truman, "he gave the Indian white men's diseases and the Indian gave him tobacco. I don't know which has been worse."

Hapless Giants Ran Out Of Fans

NEW YORK—Horace (Greeley) Stoneham has gone west and we in New York are a bit the poorer. It is a good thing for San Francisco to get the Giants and vice versa. Only a couple of the players lived in New York or wanted any part of it, which is the rule with big league players and the cities they represent. But those who did will find much about San Francisco that will remind them of the old days. San Francisco is an anti-septic New York.

It seems right, too, that the coast town should start with a modest little second division team like the Giants, who have good intentions and one good player. In baseball, as in many another field, anticipation is 75 per cent of the fun. Full many a San Francisco breast will swell at the prospect of an eventual pennant winner and even a World Series champion. But to have such a team delivered here and now on a platter would please only the superficial and create no bed-rock fans—the 600,000 or so who have been following the Giants in New York through thick and thin, mainly thin, rendering unto them a small annual profit which, alas, has not been able to support Stoneham in the manner to which he became accustomed.

Milwaukee would not have been

Bridge Building Farmers Neglected Legal Details

By ARCHIE TEAGUE
LOS ANGELES — Bureaucracy has caught up with nine cotton-pickin', bridge-buildin' farmers.

And the result draped their sturdy, do-it-yourself span across the Colorado River with miles upon tangled miles of government red tape.

The farmers operate in broiler-hot Cibola Valley in a remote corner of Arizona 20 miles south of Blythe, Calif. When they were faced with shipping their cotton by an obsolete ferry, the ambitious agrarians simply and quickly solved their problem with a 410-foot toll bridge.

However, the farmers neglected to mention their project to: The Army Corps of Engineers, The Secretary of the Army, The Bureau of Reclamation, The California Division of Highways, The Arizona Division of Highways, The California Toll Bridge Authority.

The army engineers, who control the muddy Colorado for navigation, sheepishly admitted they didn't even know the bridge was there until angry boatmen started complaining.

Other officials have confided their sheer delight at the fact that someone found a way to cut — or, in this case, ignore — the tortuous labyrinths of bureaucracy.

The law takes a sterner view. For the Colorado is classified as navigable — by act of Congress. And the weekend sports who churn the river waters in their runabouts are fuming because, come the baseball gold mine it is if the Braves had won the pennant the first time in that costume. They have kept their fans in a state of frustrated ecstasy since then. We have heard people close to the team hope aloud that the Braves could narrowly avoid winning for many profitable years to come. This year those odd hopes would seem to be doomed.

One advantage to Stoneham's going to San Francisco, aside from the money, is that he can attract a whole new coterie of fans. I've noticed through the years in New York that if a fan is past 60 he is a Giants fan rather than a Yankee or Dodger. It is hard to find a young Giants fan. The reason, of course, is that a whole generation or two grew up to look upon John McGraw and his stalwarts as the last word in baseball excellence—skill, dash, fire, accomplishment. The Yankees were a motley organization which some remembered as the Highlanders and others as a team without a ballpark of its own. A bought team rather than a developed one, a team with a few roots and fewer rooters.

The Giants lost a customer every time an elderly New Yorker died. With two pennants in the past 20 years, they gained few replacements in the grand stand.

Inflation Or Bust—U.S. Dilemma

WASHINGTON — While some signs are visible on the surface the scope of the dilemma confronted by the Eisenhower administration, caught in the squeeze between rapidly rising prices and the soaring costs of defense on one side and the economy wave and the debt ceiling on the other, is still little understood.

When Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned from his recent trip to London, where he put forward a complex aerial inspection-ground control plan to prevent a surprise attack, he reported to the National Security Council on two aspects of his mission.

First, he said he was convinced the Soviets had no real interest in reaching a first-phase disarmament agreement. And second and more important, he said that in his opinion they were not interested because the current nuclear stalemate works to their advantage.

It was essential, therefore, in Dulles' view, to implement what has been for more than two years the avowed military strategy of the United States. This is to equip the armed forces with small nuclear weapons for fighting limited wars.

It recognizes that the "massive deterrent" of hydrogen bombs raises, in every test of strength with the Soviet bloc, the question of survival. It means immobilization, since in the explosive situation developing in Syria and the Arab countries, for example, the "massive deterrent" is worthless.

But to provide the means for a limited-war strategy with small nuclear weapons is very costly. While to some degree the nuclear ammunition has been stockpiled, Army ground troops have not been provided with the weapons to use that ammunition, except on a token basis. The essential airlift has been cut back to almost zero, and now the tactical air support necessary for the Army's limited role is being curtailed through reductions in the 19th Air Force.

With the $38 billion defense spending limit imposed by the White House and with the continuing need to keep troops and military missions staffed in every part of the globe, there is simply not enough money to provide a limited war potential. Unless, it should be added, cuts can be made in the Strategic Air Command and in the Navy's program for more and more super-aircraft carriers. It is just here that the administration has failed most lamentably to come to grips with the competition of the three services to have all of everything in every field.

One reason for the failure is the powerful forces that work against any alteration in the pattern of recent years. The aviation industry is beginning to feel the effect of cutbacks in competing missile programs and in military aircraft production.

The resulting unemployment, when it is put together with other pockets of joblessness, has raised the fear in the administration that the rising spiral of prices may eventually—and sooner rather than later—bring on deflation. As a result, Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, has instructed Clarence Randall, White House adviser on trade and economic affairs, to review every government outback that might adversely affect a plant having more than 5,000 employees.

Randall is confident the economy can absorb this unemployment and continue at the present high level. But there are others no so optimistic. The pessimists are saying more or less openly that it is foolish to pretend military spending can be held at the $38 billion level and that the fact had better be faced up to now that the $275 billion debt ceiling must be raised. They add that even if spending is held down, it will be impossible to stay under the present ceiling.

If a strategy of limited war is to be implemented, the President himself will have to take drastic action. He will have to do what he has thus far shown himself reluctant to do—shake up the military establishment radically to find the means to equip the ground forces with the new limited nuclear weapons.

Really Nothing New From Year To Year

Things are not a great deal different from one year to another.

There are some things you can count on to keep you in touch with reality. Things that will happen just as surely as rain on a spring Sunday. People who say you cannot predict the future just don't know what they're talking about. For instance:

There will be a man in New Mexico who sees a flying saucer, and a couple in Texas who saw it, too, and a fellow in Washington who says, shucks, it was just a weather balloon. And this will create demands for a new investigation of flying saucers, with a lot of people saying the Air Force is just covering up because it isn't fast enough to catch the aerial discs.

There will be a baby in Pawtucket, or possibly in Crabapple Junction, who swallows an open safety pin and coughs it up, closed, just as the doctors are about to operate. This will create quite a stir in Pawtucket, or perhaps Crabapple Junction, but it will go virtually unnoticed everywhere else, because other babies will be busy swallowing safety pins, and each community will be paying attention to its own news.

There will be several communities where garden hoses start burrowing into the ground and won't stop. Scientists will be at a loss for an explanation until the neighbor's little boy discovers in one case that there was an abandoned root cellar under the front lawn, and the hose was going to cover there. The other cases will remain unexplained since everyone will be ashamed to mention them after that. On the international scene, there will be a lot of arguments in Berlin and the Formosa Strait, and the Democrats will say the Republicans have made an awful mess of things. The Republicans will say it is the same old Democratic mess. The voters will agree with one side or the other, according to whether the voters are Republicans or Democrats, and the following year there will be a lot of arguments in Berlin and the Formosa Strait.

There will be a man in the Pacific Northwest who climbs up in a tree and saws it off under him. You will not hear about that, though, because his heirs will be too sheepish to tell about it.

There will be a motorist in the Midwest who gets 169 traffic tickets and blames it on too much horsepower in modern automobiles. The Yankees will be strong contenders to appear in the World Series.

Sec. of State John Foster Dulles will be photographed going somewhere. He will also be photographed returning from somewhere.

There will be new public campaigns against: horror comic books, television giveaway programs, progressive education, juvenile delinquency, slacks for women, Republicans, Democrats, income taxes, crab grass, Dutch elm blight and professional wrestling.

And the alarm clock will ring at the same old time every morning. No sir, no year is entirely new. And maybe that is all to the good. The old, familiar things give people a feeling of stability.

Expected Hoffa Fireworks Fizzle Out

... AS TEAMSTERS BOSS 'LECTURES' SENATORS

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON (INS)—The long-heralded fireworks scheduled for Tuesday's stellar performance of Teamsters Union Vice President James R. Hoffa fizzle like Fourth of July sparklers in the klieg-lit Senate caucus room.

Hoffa

Short, stocky Jimmy lectured the senators like a righteous headmaster on the philosophies of union organizing and misuse of power.

Even the disclosure that Hoffa and Bert Brennan, another Teamster official, had disguised ownership of a trucking company under their wives' maiden names failed to rattle the cocky unioner who hopes to succeed Dave Beck as Teamster president next month.

'Common Practice'

Jimmy allowed as how it was fairly common practice for women to employ their maiden names in their careers.

Hoffa conceded that the two did all right for themselves in the business venture which was blessed by a big trucker with whom Hoffa had to negotiate contracts for his union.

For an initial investment of only $4,000 cash the two gals made a tidy profit of $125,000 between 1949 and 1955.

Asked by Rackets Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy whether it was true that he has been arrested 17 times, Hoffa replied coolly: "I don't know exactly, Bob, but I've been picked up about that many times."

All-Powerful Group

Hoffa shone brightest when Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY), diverted the investigation to obtain Jimmy's views on a reported plan of his to meld all transportation unions into one all-powerful group that could tie up the business of the entire union.

In dulcet, soothing tones, Jimmy assured the committee that all he really had in mind was a council of all transportation unions to "exchange ideas and avoid competition."

He even announced his fervent espousal of secret strike votes. Although he firmly vetoed a suggestion to have that written into law or to have impartial observers count the ballots.

With a noller-than-thou air, he volunteered, however:

"I may be the only one in the labor movement to say this, but I believe that once a union signs a contract it is just as responsible as management in seeing that it is carried out and if the union violates it, it should be penalized."

Senators Nod

Senators who had come to probe into Jimmy's alleged racketeering found themselves nodding with bemused befuddlement.

While the standing-room-only audience yawned, and newsreel cameramen darkened their lens, Hoffa painted a picture of himself as a man solely dedicated to the good of the working man.

A prophet, he seemed to be saying, is seldom appreciated at all.

Diplomat's Wife Says: FDR'S TOO-LATE CABLE I NEARLY AVERTED WAR

NEW YORK (INS)—The American widow of a Japanese diplomat says that war between the U.S. and Japan was almost averted when President Roosevelt was induced to send a personal peace appeal to Emperor Hirohito on Dec. 5, 1941.

The incident is told by Gwen Terasaki in a book, "Bridge to the Sun," to be published next month.

Mrs. Terasaki's husband, Hidenari, was first secretary of the Japanese Embassy in Washington in the fall of 1941 and worked with Ambassador Nomura in trying to negotiate a peaceful settlement with the U.S.

Radical Proposal
"When the end of November was approaching and there was still no settlement," Mrs. Terasaki writes, "a radical proposal was discussed at the Embassy."

"Why not go over (Premier) Tojo's head and suggest that President Roosevelt cable an appeal for peace directly to the emperor—the only man in Japan who now had the power to curb militarists?"

"Terry," as Mrs. Terasaki called her husband, had strong American sympathies, she says, and agreed to carry out the plan, "knowing that if his role was discovered, it would make him a traitor" and probably lead to his death.

Through Dr. Jones
The approach to the President, the widow relates, was made through Dr. E. Stanley Jones, a Methodist leader and friend of FDR's, and the proposal was discussed at the White House Dec. 3.

Roosevelt decided to go along with the plan, the book says, and as Jones left the president told him:

"You tell that young Japanese,

Mr. Terasaki, that he is a brave man. No one will ever learn of his part in this from me. His secret is safe."

One Day Too Late

The cable was sent Dec. 5 and delivered Dec. 6. Mrs. Terasaki writes, and "five years later the emperor was to inform Terry that had he received it one day sooner he could and would have stopped the attack on Pearl Harbor."

When war did come, the Terasakis were exchanged for American diplomats in Japan.

Terasaki died in 1950 and his widow lives in her home town of Johnson City, Tenn.

Senate Group OKs Bill To Help Admit Thousands Of Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday approved a bill that would permit the admission of additional thousands of refugees from Communism or from political persecution in the Middle East.

Except for this provision, the measure closely parallels an immigration bill approved by the House Judiciary Committee last week. Congressional leaders plan to try to pass it before Congress adjourns.

The legislation provides for none of the major increases in immigration recommended by President Eisenhower. Neither does it permit permanent residence to be granted Hungarian refugees admitted on an emergency basis last fall.

However, it would ease some restrictions in the McCarran-Walter immigration act and provide relief in individual hardship cases.

The Difference
The Senate bill differs from the House bill primarily in that it would permit broader use of 18,656 visas left over from the 1953 refugees relief act which expired last Dec. 31.

Under the House bill, these left-over numbers would be available only for the use of those to whom they were originally assigned — mostly persons of German origin expelled from behind the Iron Curtain and now living in West Germany and Austria, and refugees in the Netherlands.

The Senate bill provides that 2,500 of the unused visas shall be available for German expellees, 1,600 for Dutch refugees and 500 for refugees, mostly White Russians, in the Far East.

14,000 Available World-Wide
The remaining visas left from the refugee relief act, totaling about 14,000, would be available on a world-wide basis for refugees or escapees from Communist-dominated or Communist-occupied countries and for refugees from racial, religious or political persecution in Middle East nations.

The Middle East is defined as the area taking in Libya on the west, Turkey on the north, Pakistan on the east and Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia on the south.

Another provision of the bill is designed to reunite families of immigrants who came to this country without their spouses or children.

Help Italy, Greece
Committee aides estimated this would open the way for 26,000 to 27,000 immigrants and be of particular help to nations like Italy and Greece whose quotas are over-subscribed.

The bill, among other things, also would:

1. Permit an unlimited number of orphans adopted by U.S. citizens to enter this country prior to June 9, 1959.

2. Lower the barrier against admission of aliens afflicted with tuberculosis.

3. Authorize the secretary of state and attorney general to waive the fingerprinting of foreign visitors.

4. Permit permanent residence for upwards of 15,000 resident aliens now subject to deportation because they misrepresented their place of birth to escape forced repatriation behind the Iron Curtain.

5. Wipe out the mortgages placed on immigration quotas as a result of the displaced persons act after World War II.

Strip-Tease Cards
MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Police are looking into complaints against strip-tease playing cards said to be imported from the United States, Germany and the Netherlands. "In some packs," a policewoman reported, "the higher the card the less the girl has on. By the time you get to the ace the girl is almost naked." Packs sell here for $1.80 to $2.80 (equivalent).

Funeral Thursday For Miss Perkins

Funeral services for Miss Shirley Ann Perkins 19, of Lincoln who died Monday, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Helena Catholic Church in Grafton, Father Cadillac officiating.

Rosary will be 8 p.m. Wednesday at St. Helena Church.

Miss Perkins had lived in Lincoln about a year and had been employed as a clerk with the State Department of Roads and Irrigation, until she had been hospitalized several months ago.

A native of Fairmont, she graduated from high school there in 1956 and then attended a business school in Lincoln.

Survivors include her parents Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Perkins of Fairmont; and three brothers, Richard, Ronald and Robert all of Fairmont.

Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery at Grafton.

Election Slated For Bethany Library Group

Election of officers will be held at the Bethany Branch Library Building Fund Committee meeting 7:30 p.m. Monday at Bethany Christian Church.

Church and business delegates will discuss plans to improve the inadequate library facilities according to Eugene L. Cottier, acting chairman.

The Lincoln Library Board and Library Foundation have expressed support of the improvement project, but "the support of the entire community of greater Bethany will be necessary if it is to succeed," Cottier said.

Each delegation or organization will have one vote at the meeting and delegates are asked to be prepared to offer nominations for chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer.

Wyo. Man Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Grand Larceny

A Casper, Wyo., man pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of grand larceny in District Court in connection with the theft of about $875 from the A-1 Sandwich Shop May 25.

Judge Harry A. Spencer deferred sentencing George Landers, 28, until a report on the case is made by the Adult Probation Office.

Police reported the shop, located at 125 No. 12th, was broken into early in the morning and the $875 stolen included currency and checks.

Customer Finished Spareribs While His Victim Lay Dying

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said a drunken customer struck a barbecue stand operator, then finished an order of spareribs in the place as his victim lay dying.

"Did you ever see anybody die? Look at him. He's going to die," police said the customer chortled to patrons who followed him into the place.

The scene was enacted Monday night at the Hickory Pit barbecue store on Chicago's Southwest Side.

Leo Fitzpatrick, 23, who operated the store with his mother and a brother, was the victim. He died Monday.

Ordered To Leave
Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick said her son had ordered the customer from the premises when he began to eat an order of barbecue ribs in the store.

"Leo told him we didn't have a restaurant license and that he would have to take the food home to eat," the mother told police.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick said her son told her to go to the kitchen to avoid possible trouble with the customer.

"I heard a thud and turned back," she said. "My son was lying on the floor."

Officers later questioned Michael McNichols, 47, a husky laborer, and said Mrs. Fitzpatrick had identified him as the man that struck her son.

McNichols was held without formal charge. "He needs some time to sober up," said Sgt. William Clark of the homicide detail.

Judges Convinced
LEYLAND, Eng. (AP)—Britain has just started using the radar trap system against speeding motorists. After the first one was bagged, the sitting magistrates went out personally in a speeding police car to test the apparatus and then levied a fine of $8.40 (equivalent).

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because the plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (dense breath). ## Keeping Current... For Economy!

In the illustration above, you see a very happy man at a very wonderful moment.

The title, the keys and the car are his—and he's starting out on his first journey at the wheel.

Of course, there's not much doubt as to why he decided to purchase a new Cadillac.

Like everyone else who selects the "car of cars", he did it to "keep current", so to speak, on all of Cadillac's new miracles of performance and beauty and comfort.

But coming to Cadillac, as he did, at this particular time of the year, we also suspect that he was inspired by the added motive of practicality.

For in addition to the normal Cadillac economies of modest purchase price, low operating cost and high resale value—Cadillac dealers are, at this time, seasonally prepared to make Cadillac ownership even more attractive than ever.

Because of the demand for used cars and because of increased production of the Cadillac car itself, the odds are that this gentleman received both a generous allowance on his previous car and prompt delivery of his new Cadillac.

Have you considered how wonderful it would be to step into a Cadillac of your own? Then, you should pay your dealer a visit—spend an hour on the highway in the luxury of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and get the facts for yourself.

You'll agree, we know, that the car is Cadillac—and the time is now!

'Reds Giving Mid-East Useless Arms'

...Admiral Arthur Radford Tells Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Arthur Radford has told senators Russia is glutting some Middle East nations with arms they can't use, just to impress the populations with Communist willingness to aid them.

Moreover, the retiring chairman of the joint chiefs of staff said if the arms are to be used an "unlimited number of Russians" would have to be moved in to fly the planes and man the tanks that are being sent.

Radford's statements, and a denunciation by Secretary of State Dulles of Soviet policy as "consistently ruthless," came to light in as yet unpublished testimony the two officials gave at a closed session of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Arguing for restoration of foreign aid funds cut by the House, Radford said long negotiations are needed to reach agreements with U.S. allies for the furnishing of military equipment.

Don't Follow Reds

"We don't do what the Communists do," he said. "We don't pour arms into these countries that can't take care of them and they do and they are."

"They are pouring arms into certain countries in the Middle East and the armies and the air forces are not able to handle that equipment.

"But they don't care. They are getting the effect of the aid. They are making the impression on the people. They will need unlimited numbers of Russians in to take care of and operate it and fly the planes, and man the tanks, or anything else — if these people will let them do it. They are doing that."

Radford named the countries involved but said the information was classified.

Syria Discussed

However, discussion quickly swung around to Syria, where Gen. Afif Bizry, known throughout the area as a Communist, heads a group of leftist officer who have taken over the Army.

Dulles told Sen. Holland (D-Fla) the situation in Syria "is not a wholly unexpected development" and was kept in mind when the original request was made to Congress for foreign aid funds.

Dulles said Russian foreign policy remains "consistently ruthless."

"There are few episodes in history as ruthless as the Hungarian suppression, or as malicious and mischievous as the activities which are being conducted in the Middle East," he said.

He added that "instead of seeking settlements of the problems that distress that area, there is every opportunity taken by the Russians to exaggerate the situation and make it worse."

VFW REPORTS 'FINE' RESPONSE TO BINGO DRIVE

Letters sent to the state Veterans of Foreign Wars office and verbal comments indicate a "very fine" response to a petition campaign for legalizing bingo, according to State VFW Adjutant Robert Lowe.

But it will take two weeks, he said, to judge the results of the mailing of 7,000 petitions.

It would take nearly 57,000 signatures on the petitions to place on the general election ballot a constitutional amendment to allow non-profit organizations in existence five years to conduct bingo games.

VFW membership in the state totals about 27,000, Lowe said, and 23 Eagles lodges also are working on the move, directed by Chairman Gail Miller of Bellevue.

Plans call for active solicitation for petition signatures at county fairs in the next few weeks.

To Lead Homemaking Teachers Group

Sioux City Bridge To Be Closed For 12 Hours Saturday

The Missouri River Bridge at Sioux City will be closed to traffic at 10 p.m. on Friday for about 12 hours the Iowa State Highway Commission advised State Engineer L. N. Ress Tuesday.

The bridge will be closed for the removal of the north swing span and for the traffic interchange under construction on the Iowa side of the river. Traffic on U.S. Highway 20, 73 and 77 will be rerouted during the time the bridge is closed.

Ress said that flagmen will be placed on U.S. 20 at the junction with U.S. 81 and on U.S. 73 and 77 at Lyons to inform traffic.

East bound traffic on U.S. 20 is advised to cross the Missouri River on U.S. 81 at Yankton and follow South Dakota Highway 50 and U.S. 77 to Sioux City.

North bound traffic on U.S. 73 and 77 are advised to cross the river at Omaha, Blair or Decatur following Highway U.S. 75 to Sioux City.

The Iowa Highway Commission advised that the bridge will be reopened to traffic about noon Saturday.

Belafonte Hospitalized For Eye Treatment

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Harry Belafonte entered New York Hospital Tuesday for treatment of a retinal detachment of his right eye. The ailment was attributed to a childhood injury.

He was forced to cancel the last 10 days of a concert tour. He is expected to be in the hospital several weeks.

The retina is the membrane which receives images through the lens of the eye.

Teachers Assn. Group Elects Mrs. Stasinka

Mrs. Jean Stasinka, homemaking teacher at Big Springs High School, was elected president of the Nebraska Homemaking Teachers Vocational Association at the group's 39th annual conference in Lincoln Tuesday.

Other officers chosen at a breakfast-business meeting were Mrs. Helen Triplett of McCook Junior High School, vice president, and Miss Janis Baker of Hebron High School, secretary.

New teachers who will begin this fall were briefed Tuesday afternoon by Miss Rose Wanek, homemaking education director. At a style show Tuesday evening new patterns were modeled by members of the Waverly and University High School chapters of the Future Homemakers of America.

—License Revocation—

Veterinarian Plans Appeal

Dr. Leonard O. Goodloe of Omaha filed notice Tuesday of his intention to appeal revocation of his license to practice veterinary medicine.

The State Health Department had ordered revocation based on the "illegal distribution of drugs for other than lawful purposes."

Robert Crosby is Goodloe's attorney. The appeal will be handled in Lancaster County District Court.

Stanton Delaplane's POSTCARD

Madam will pack a turquoise roscoe in the handbag only if it happens to match the gown. Once you enter the field of fashion, even with a nonsnag handgun, you need more than color. You need poetry.
You need colors like moss green, teal blue, shocking pink, things like that.

Well, it is an interesting fling into the world of fashion. This mixture of gunpowder and eye appeal.
It will be more interesting to see what it does to the field of vital statistics.
Will madam be quicker to put a slug in her helmet when pistols are Morning Glory Maueve?
Madam, did you or did you not put the blast on the late lamented with this nonsnag handgun?
"Impossible," said the lady. "I was wearing my beige number that night."
"So what?" says the D.A.
"So that cannon is my Ivory Mist job," says the lady. "It would clash with my costume."

This shows you they have not been long in the fashion dodge—else they would know that ladies' boudoir standards have not been pink since the rosy Eighties. Pink boudoirs are for squares.

The ladies in the jury box nod knowingly. Not guilty.
In the interests of daintiness, I am happy to report that the company has reduced the pistol to .22 caliber. This may be of great value to the victim—a gent can absorb a lot more punishment from a .22 than he can, say, from a .45.
A lady on the warpath usually grabs the first heater in sight. And most of the weapons in reach today slug her partner with enough lead to stop a bull moose.

I have noticed that ladies usually regret their impulsive act later.
But regrets at this point are like a hole in the head. Who needs them?
As everyone knows, ladies ordinarily pistol the boy friend "because I loved him so." And it is nice to know when we are ducking these loving shots that we are being peppered by something new and light rather than a high caliber weapon.
It will be a comforting thought when madam quick-draws that her heater will match her wardrobe.

Nor will it snag the fabric. That the round butt grip will restle comfortably in her hand and, if we are lucky, may even spoil her aim. A round butt grip is a poor grip for hitting a moving target.

And, if we pass to our reward with our boots on, we did it, gentlemen, in the height of fashion.

4-H Stock Entries For State Fair Reach Over 1,400

More than 1,400 4-H livestock entries have been received for the Nebraska State Fair from club members, according to Wes An-tes, state 4-H club leader at the University of Nebraska.

This figure, An-tes said, represents an increase of more than 140 entries.

A breakdown of total entries shows 719 beef entries, 338 dairy entries, 249 swine entries, and 118 sheep entries.

Deadline for livestock entries was 5 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 15.
All other entries must be received by 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 23.

All exhibits, An-tes said, except horses must be in place by 8 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 31. Horses must be there only on Thursday,
Sept. 5 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Soviet Satellite Rockets Not Yet Ready

Reds Have An Engineer Shortage

... Dr. Kotelnikov Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —A leading Russian scientist Tuesday expressed belief that his country does not as yet have rockets ready for launching satellites.

Add, he said, like the United States, the U.S.S.R. has a shortage of engineers.

He also said a majority of Soviet scientists think all experiments with atomic bombs should be stopped because of the danger of war and the possibility of genetic damage to humans.

These bits of information were given at a press conference by Dr. Vladimir Kotelnikov, head of the radio and electronics division of the Soviet Russian Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Kotelnikov is here as the head of a 16-member delegation attending the Western electronics show and convention. He said the shortage of engineers is largely the result of the enormous growth of the electronics industry.

No Exact Date

Russia will launch a satellite some time during the International Geophysical Year, which started July 1 and will continue to the end of 1958, the Russian spokesman said, but added that it would be difficult to say exactly when. The target date for a satellite launching by the United States is some time after Jan. 1, 1958.

Dr. Kotelnikov said Russian scientists had expressed open opposition to continued bomb tests by writing letters to newspapers and magazines and through their representatives in the Supreme Soviet.

At the outset Dr. Kotelnikov answered reporters' questions in English, but when the talk turned to the artificial satellite he spoke through an interpreter.

"Bloodhound" Is Ready

FILTON, England (AP)—Officials of a British aircraft company said they have opened an overseas sales drive for a surface-to-air guided missile called the Bloodhound.

The government has refused to allow publication of performance figures of the Bloodhound, a 22-foot-long missile boosted to super-sonic speeds by rocket motors.

The Bristol Aircraft Co., told correspondents visiting its factory that it expects to earn millions of dollars by selling the anti-aircraft missile to British commonwealth countries and member nations of NATO.

Typhoon Heading For South Korea After Japan Hit

TOKYO (Wednesday) (AP)—Typhoon Agnes moved slowly toward southern Korea from the western coast of Kyushu, Japan's southernmost main island. She left eight dead and two missing in Japan.

Agnes is expected to lash the southern coast of South Korea with its full force Wednesday evening.

The weatherman said maximum winds of 108 m.p.h. were blowing at center while 50 m.p.h. winds were recorded within a 130-mile radius.

The entire Kyushu Island, where 1,000 persons were killed in floods last month, was under the force of Agnes as a heavy rain lashed the island.

National police said eight persons were injured and 1,197 persons made homeless in her wake.

Fairbury Death Car Twisted Wreckage

Only tangled wreckage was left of the auto in which Mrs. Everett Deger, 39, of Fairbury, Neb., lost her life. The car, driven by Mrs. Deger, crashed into a bridge railing on Highway 15 about one mile south of Fairbury. Cause of the crash has not been determined. Mrs. Deger was thrown from the wreckage. ## Demand For Farm Workers Falls Off

The demand for farm workers is tapering off in Nebraska because of the season, the state labor department's division of employment security reported Tuesday.

Most employment offices report a decreased need for short time workers such as potato workers, beet workers, weed pullers and hay hands, the division said. But a shortage of married farm hands persists at Grand Island, Nebraska City and Norfolk.

Job placements last week totaled 1,878, of which 649 were harvest hands or combine operators, 633 were corn detasslers, 136 were hay hands, 25 were general farm and ranch hands, and 435 were miscellaneous seasonal workers.

Woman Calls Robber's Bluff; He Runs Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Ann O'Connor, a teller for the Franklin Savings Bank at 42nd St. and Eighth Ave., routed a robber by doing exactly what he told her not to do.

The robber shoved a note through her bank window saying: "This is a stickup. Put the money in an envelope. Any moves to draw suspicious attention will result in someone getting hurt. I have a gun in my pocket."

Mrs. O'Connor took one look at the note and then screamed, stepped on an alarm button and fainted. The robber ran out of the bank empty handed.

Hruska Asks For Report On Interstate Hy.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hruska, Nebraska Republican, said Tuesday he has asked the Federal Bureau of Roads for a report on correspondence involving the routing of the interstate highway through Iowa.

The senator said he had learned "for the first time" at a hearing Monday that the bureau had approved last Dec. 31 a proposal of the Iowa Highway Commission to route the Iowa section of the highway through Loveland north of Council Bluffs rather than through Council Bluffs and into Omaha's southern area.

Hruska said this was brought out at a session of Omaha and Council Bluffs civic leaders with the Bureau Monday. The Omaha and Council Bluffs delegation appeared to boost the route into South Omaha rather than the more northern Loveland route.

Hruska said he has asked the Bureau for copies of what he understood was a request of the Iowa Commission for approval of the Loveland route, alleged Nebraska Highway Department concurrence in that route and the bureau's letter of approval. The Loveland route would connect with a north-south interstate road about 20 miles north of Omaha.

EX-PRESIDENT OF HONDURAS LOZANO DIES

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Former president Julio Lozano Diaz of the Republic of Honduras died at a hospital here Tuesday night.

Lozano, 72, died of cerebral thrombosis complicated by pneumonia.

As vice president, Lozano took over the presidency in 1955 when the Honduran congress failed to ratify a controversial election majority for Dr. Ramon Villeda Morales. Morales deposed Lozano last October and the former president came here to live.

He had been hospitalized since July 27 when he was stricken with an intestinal ailment.

Tots Found Dead Side-By-Side In Old Ice Box

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Two children were found dead in an abandoned ice box after apparently getting locked in it while playing. The victims were Marie Grissmore, 4, and Rose Mary Edwards, 3.

Mrs. Josie May Edwards, mother of Rose Mary, told Police Capt. Dewey Hockett she last saw the children alive about 3:30 p.m. When she couldn't find them, she said she asked neighbors to help search.

Police were called in later, but by the time they arrived a neighbor had unlocked the abandoned ice box outside the Edwards' home and found the children, huddled side-by-side. The ice box locks from the outside.

Home From Switzerland

Mrs. William Edmondson, her daughter, Barbara, and son, Paul, arrived Sunday evening from Switzerland for a visit with Mrs. Edmondson's parents, Col. Doane Kiechel (ret.) and Mrs. Kiechel.

TALK OF THE TOWN

MADAM CHAIRMAN

MORNING

Homemaking Education Conference, at the Hotel Cornhusker.

AFTERNOON

Havelock YWCA, 12:30 o'clock covered dish luncheon at the Havelock Center.

LAFB Officers Wives Club, 12:30 o'clock dessert luncheon and bridge at the Officers Club.

EVENING

Havelock YWCA beginning bridge class, 7:30 o'clock at the center.

Lincoln Duplicate Bridge Club, 7 o'clock at the Lincoln Hotel.

Tops Club, 7:30 o'clock at the Lincoln YWCA.

AS THE crow flies it seems a long way from Switzerland, but plane-ing across the Atlantic takes no time at all these days as Mrs. William Edmondson and her children, Barbara and Paul, can testify.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmondson and their children left Switzerland on Saturday, and Mrs. Edmondson and the children arrived in Lincoln on Sunday evening to spend some time as the guests of Mrs. Edmondson's parents, Col. Doane Kiechel (Ret.) and Mrs. Kiechel. Mr. Edmondson, who has been serving as a second secretary at the American Embassy in Switzerland went directly to Washington D. C. where he will spend two or three weeks before joining his family.

The Edmondsons (Mrs. Edmondson was Donna Kiechel—Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska) have an interesting life. Before his post in Switzerland Mr. Edmondson was Donna Kiechel—Tanganyika, Africa, and resided in Tanganyika's capital, Dar Es Salaam, where both Barbara and Paul were born.

What the next foreign post will be no one knows, but Mr. Edmondson, a career diplomat, does know that he is to take special study at Northwestern University for a few months this year, and it is entirely logical that he and his family will reside in Evanston.

NOW that our guest book is open we'll tell you that Miss Ethel Baxter arrives today from Davenport, Ia., to remain until Sunday as the guest of her sister, Miss Elva Baxter.

THEN we learned that Mrs. Virginia Trotter, Dean of the School of Home Economics at the University of Vermont and a former Lincoln resident, is in Lincoln at the moment — the guest of her sister, Miss Betty Yapp, dietitian at Lincoln General Hospital.

This morning Mrs. Trotter will be complimented by Miss Florence Atwood and Miss Mary Atwood when they entertain at a coffee at their home.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Cox returned home on Sunday from Ft. Smith, Ark., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hale (Mary Miot Cox), and greeted their new grandson, Mark McKee Hale.

Last Wednesday evening young Mark was christened by his great-uncle, the Rev. Y. A. Oliver of Atlanta, Ga., who was assisted by his son, the Rev. Hoyt Oliver who stopped briefly in Ft. Smith en route to Korea where he will serve three years as a missionary with the Methodist Church.

For Mr. Cox the current week is just a breather between trips —He will leave again next Sunday to go to Philadelphia where he will attend a national meeting of the American Mathematics Association.

CAN'T let the morning pass without mention of a popular bride-elect — Miss Mary Elizabeth Kinsinger, whose marriage to William Blue will be solemnized on Thursday, Oct. 10.

Miss Kinsinger is the incentive for the luncheon on Saturday for which Mrs. Wheaton Battley will be hostess at her home. Following the luncheon Miss Kinsinger will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

Back To Lincoln To Reside

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kerchal, their two sons, Kenneth and Dennis, and their daughter, Carolyn Jean, recently arrived in Lincoln from Elgin, Ill. The Kerchals, however, are not in the category of newcomers—They resided in Lincoln for quite some time before Mr. Kerchal was transferred to Elgin, so they weren't too unhappy when he was transferred back to Lincoln.

Mr. Kerchal, by the way, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Engineering.

We Hear That

Visiting in Lincoln at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Metcalf are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Metcalf Jr. and their children, Jewel and Pamela. The family has just come from Lexington Park, Md., where Mr. Metcalf received his discharge from the Navy.

Also guests at the Metcalf home are Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf's granddaughters, Joan and Pat Marshall of Fullerton, Calif., who will be joined in Lincoln the last of August by their sister, Mrs. Lyle Breeling, her son, Ken, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Marshall, all of Fullerton.

SUBURBIA LIFE KNOWS NO DULL MOMENTS

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Word comes from Mr. and Mrs. Rey Decker this morning that their daughter Joan was graduated in July from TWA Airline hostess school and is now based in San Francisco. Before becoming a stewardess Miss Decker attended the University of Arizona where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Arriving in Country Club Terrace today from Milwaukee, Wis., are Mr. and Mrs. Lew Jagger and their children, Sandra and Billy. The Jagger family will be the guests of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Vogt, for a few days before continuing on to Colorado.

In honor of their visitors Mr.

and Mrs. Vogt will entertain at a chicken barbecue at their home this evening. Included among the dinner guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Jagger, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Svendsen of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gloe, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, and Wayne Carpenter.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Norman Adams returned home Sunday from a two week vacation. Accompanying their parents on the trip were Debbie and Barbara Adams, and the family visited with Mrs. Adams' aunts, Miss Erma Ellrick and Miss Flossie Ellrick, in Decatur, Ill., and former Lincoln residents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bird and their son, Eugene, in Winsor, Mo.

Farewells will soon be in order for Capt. and Mrs. James Wirth. Capt. Wirth is being transferred to Loring Air Force Base near Caribou, Me., prior to which he will be stationed at Castle Air Force Base at Merced, Calif., for three months.

Among the numerous courtesies planned for Mrs. Wirth before her departure is a bridge luncheon in her honor on Thursday, for which the members of her neighborhood bridge club, Mrs. Sidney Spilseth, Mrs. E. L. Taylor, Mrs. John Hoffman, Mrs. Vernon Vogt, Mrs. Vernon Walker, Mrs. Rod Dudley, and Mrs. Tom Hatten will be hostesses. The party will be held at the Inter-Com Club, and during the afternoon a one-gift shower will be presented to Mrs. Wirth.

Mrs. Lavina Murray arrived in our suburb last week from her home in Cedar Falls, Ia. She is staying at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Murray, while her daughter-in-law is a patient at Lincoln General Hospital.

INDIAN VILLAGE

It would appear to be a busy week for Indian Village residents from all indications—for instance—a neighborhood picnic will be an event of Friday evening when several families gather for an outing at Pioneer's Park. Included among the picnicers will be Mr. and Mrs. Stan Johnson and their children, Stanley and Kathy, Mr. and Mrs. William Lyberis Jr. and their son, William Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gould and their sons, Ricky and Robbie, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meyer.

Mrs. William Lyberis entertained at a coffee at her home this morning. Guests were neighborhood friends of the hostess.

Due to arrive in Indian Village this Saturday are Mr. and Mrs. Byron Smith of Memphis, Tenn. The couple will be visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Johnson, and plan a two week's stay in Lincoln.

Leaving town this Saturday for his new home in Bloomington, Ind., will be William Lyberis Jr. Mr. Lyberis will be assuming his new position as assistant instructor of art at the University of Indiana.

Birthday celebrants on Saturday will be Ricky and Robbie Gould, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gould, and in honor of the birthdays the young men will entertain friends at a hobo picnic at Van Dorn Park. Guests invited to join in the festivities of the afternoon include Lee Smith, Kerry McManus, Snooky and Toady Fowler, Kent Augustine, Johnny Breslow, Marie Bush, Douglas and Barry Hoobler, and Jack Hornsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meyer were dinner host and hostess at the Compass Room last Sunday when they had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. Brown-

Plans Fall Wedding

MISS AUDREY BROWNSON

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Brownson are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Audrey, to A. 2c Thomas E. Certain, son of Mrs. Florence Pippin of Huntsville, Ala., and of James T. Certain of Chicago.

Plans are being made for a Sept. 15 wedding.

Fun In Park Valley Heights

Perhaps ALL neighborhoods could be fun, but it takes the suburban areas to prove that fun is where you find it — and if you can't find it — make it. Take the new suburb, Park Valley Heights, for instance — Park Valley Heights is a friendly neighborhood filled with friendly people who always are ready for fun. Put the neighbors and a hamburger-fry together and you have an unbeatable team—simple pleasure with good company.

There was such a party — an informal affair as hamburger-frys always are — when Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Herbert entertained on Monday evening in the patio at their home.

Ike Runs Into New Trouble

Byrd Calls For Deeper Slashes In Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats heaped new troubles on President Eisenhower's foreign aid program Tuesday. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) called for even deeper money cuts than the House voted and Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) questioned whether the Senate should raise the House figures. Byrd took the Senate floor to announce he's all for eliminating more than the 809 million dollars which the House last week cut from the pending measure. And he said he would favor wiping out all economic aid, including money for an economic development loan fund.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said the Senate Appropriations Committee, now considering the bill, has been told the administration has 12 billion dollars available for overseas aid.

Special Hearing

He said the committee, of which he is a member, will hold a special hearing Wednesday to ask foreign aid experts why more money is needed.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP leader, said "there is no 12 billion dollars available" and reported President Eisenhower is quite hopeful the Senate will restore most of the House cut.

Byrd said he is seriously considering "a full scale investigation" of the reported availability of more than one billion dollars in foreign currencies for aid spending. He said Congress has no control over these funds and that "proper accounting and audit is impossible."

The Virginia Democrat, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said:

"I am completely satisfied that more than one billion dollars in free use currencies, unbudgeted, omitted from the pending bill, and beyond appropriation control, will be available to foreign aid programs in the current year, and I hope the Appropriations Committee and the Senate will take this fully into consideration."

Byrd said Treasury and General Accounting Office officials agreed his is a conservative estimate, although none would say how much was available.

Shortly before Byrd spoke, Sen. Robertson (D-Va.) announced in a statement that he will support the full house cut in the appropriations committee, of which he is a member.

Lions Club Cabinet To Meet Sunday In Lincoln

A meeting of the Lions Club District 38-A cabinet will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Cornhusker Hotel, according to District Governor Claude Bowley of Hebron.

Attending will be presidents, secretaries, zone chairmen and deputy district governors and their wives.

She had planted one last kiss on his cheek. Then the wide-eyed boy, hugging a kitten, walked out of the Frantum House clinging to the hand of a social worker.

He was on his way to his new parents, a Navy lieutenant and his wife at Patuxent, Md., by order of the state.

At Patuxent, Navy Lt. Kenneth Adams said later:

"We can well sympathize with the feeling of the foster parents as we have acted in the same capacity."

"We were foster parents for a little boy about the same age as this child. It is indeed difficult to sever the relationship when the time comes. The situation was the same as now. The child was Protestant while we are Catholic."

The state's highest court — the Court of Appeals — had ruled that the Frantums, who nursed Burton back to health from fragile infancy, must give him up. Department of Welfare officials had turned down their request to adopt Burton because they were not Catholics and were middle aged.

The mother, whose name was withheld in accordance with the department's custom, had asked that the boy be raised a Catholic.

The Frantums are Lutherans. He is 53 and she 47. Frantum, a retired Marine, works for a Baltimore contractor.

In their place, the Welfare Department found more "suitable adoptive parents" — Lt. and Mrs. Adams, who are Catholics. Adams is 32 and his wife 39.

Mrs. Frantum said she had told Welfare officials she was willing to become a Catholic and promised to raise the boy as one if they'd let her keep him.

The gray-haired woman said Burton had required almost 24-hour attention. He was born at City Hospitals and spent eight weeks there with a fractured left arm and suffering from anemia, she added.

She explained she took the baby in when he was too sick to be placed for adoption by Department of Welfare standards, and said:

"I have spent many nights up with the child nursing him back to health. He will not be a well child if he remains away from me. They are harming the child."

The Frantums have vowed they will carry the battle to the U.S. Supreme Court.

PARTING EMBRACE

ster. The Frantums were ordered to turn over the child to the Department of Welfare for adoption by another couple. (AP Wirephoto.)

More Withdrawal Cards Received In Gas Petition Fight

The Secretary of State's office Tuesday received a few more petition signature withdrawal cards which have been distributed by the Better Nebraska Association in its fight against a petition campaign to suspend or repeal the added cent of gas tax.

The post cards, sent "to automobile owner," are addressed to the Secretary of State's office and have been offered as a means by which the sender can get his name withdrawn from gas tax petitions.

Some of the cards were showing up without postage.

One was redeemed by the Secretary of State's office by paying four cents as prescribed (double the original postage).

Ironically, the unsigned card merely carried the notation: "We were unaware of petitions being received."

Office spokesmen indicated cards henceforth will have to come with postage paid.

Lincoln Air Force Base safety officials announced Tuesday that one-way streets have gone into effect at the base.

The streets are designed to eliminate traffic bottlenecks at the installation. A traffic director has been added at a busy intersection during rush hour congestion.

Mrs. Sell, Native Lincolnite, Dies

Mrs. Marie Alice Sell, 49, of 1048 New Hampshire, died Tuesday evening.

Funeral services will be held 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Hodgman-Splain Chapel, the Rev. Edwin Mehlhoff officiating. Burial will be at Wyuka.

Born in Lincoln, she attended both grade and high school in the city. She was a member of St. Johns Congregational Church.

Survivors are a husband, Adolph; daughter, Kathy Ann of Lincoln; brother, Capt. Jack C. Schnell, Camp Lee, Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Henry G. Leback and Mrs. Guy J. McLean, both of Lincoln; stepfather, Conrad Gablehouse of Lincoln; two step-sisters, and four step brothers.

Social Security Deficit Is Just A Temporary 'Growing Pain'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Social Security payments are running higher than collections for the first time in the program's history, but a spokesman Tuesday called the situation a "growing pain" that will be overcome.

Large numbers of farmers and women under 65 qualified for benefits in the past year and brought on the temporary deficit earlier than expected. It will continue into 1960.

Acknowledging the shortage, the Social Security Administration insisted the deficit was anticipated and "will have no significant effects on the long-run actuarial balance of the system."

A spokesman explained: "That is, for the long-range future the system will have sufficient income from contributions, based on the tax schedule now in the law, and from interest earned on investments to meet all future payments."

Collections will rise sharply in 1960 when the combined rate of contribution by employers and employees steps up to five per cent.

At the beginning of the program 20 years ago, the rate was two per cent. It is now four per cent and is scheduled to go up at five-year

Naval Station Budget Sliced By $70,900

The Lincoln Naval Air Station maintenance and operating budget has been cut $70,900 for the year that started July 1, 1957, according to an Associated Press report from Washington.

The fund, from which the civilian payroll is taken, will be $360,000 this year, compared with $430,900 during the last fiscal year.

Cmdr. G. K. Sherman, information officer, said officials expect to know by the end of this week the future status of the Lincoln station.

The Navy had previously announced that all of the 49 civilian employees would be off the payroll by next June 30, and whether or not the base will continue to operate after that date is still unknown.

3 Mayors Named To Study Power Agency Service

The League of Nebraska Municipalities has appointed three mayors to work with a committee studying future relationship of power agencies in the state.

Named were Mayors Bennett Martin of Lincoln, Allen Davison of Beatrice and Fred Barth of Hastings. League President L. D. Torrens of Wahoo made the appointments.

The study committee was set up recently by the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn. to draw up ground rules for power agencies, with special attention to which agencies should serve towns, and which should serve rural customers.

Commission Clears Scottsbluff Holder Of Liquor License

The State Liquor Control Commission reported Tuesday that evidence was "insufficient and inadequate to sustain the charges" that Bertha Dermer of Scottsbluff, holder of a package liquor license, had sold beer to a minor.

In another Scottsbluff case, the commission ordered a 14-day suspension of the on and off sale retail beer license of Mitchell and Marie Tassin, on a finding that the licensees, through an authorized agent, sold beer to a minor.

The licensees had entered in writing a voluntary appearance, waiver of public hearing, plea of guilty and consent to judgment.

Hastings Infant, 7 Weeks Old, Dies

A seven-week-old Lincoln boy, Aled Hastings of 4631 Meredith, was found dead Tuesday. Fire Department resuscitator crew efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Deputy Lancaster County Sheriff Del Ziemann, acting coroner, said the boy died of natural causes.

Survivors include his mother, Mary; two brothers, Carlos and Gary; and grandmother, Dorothy Phillips of Lincoln.

Building Permit Issued To New NU Sorority

Permit to begin construction on a $138,000 chapter house for the newest University of Nebraska sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha, was issued by the city Tuesday.

The two-story brick colonial structure, planned to house 45 young women, will be built by the ALA Construction Co., of Audubon, Ia., with Harold C. Potter of Lincoln, architect.

The new sorority house, first to be built at the University for 20 years, will be located at 435 No. 17th, near the corner of 17th and R to the north of the Delta Gamma sorority house.

Present construction plans call for completion of the structure by early 1958.

The Zeta Tau Alpha group was re-activated at the University of Nebraska on May 19, 1956, and ground-breaking ceremonies for the new building were held in August.

Fair Closes Hog Entries

Space in the swine barn has been filled for the Nebraska State Fair and no more entries are being accepted in that class, Fair Board Secretary Edwin Schultz said Tuesday.

Advance livestock entries for the Aug. 31 - Sept. 6 fair are coming in at about the same pace as last year when the number of entries set an all-time record, Schultz said.

He said advance sales of gate and grandstand tickets have been "very pleasing."

Ten Million Persons

With liberalization of the program every election year since 1950, some ten million Americans now are receiving seven and one-half billion dollars a year in benefits from the Social Security Fund.

Approximately 90 per cent of the 65 million paid workers in this country are eligible for old age benefits up to $108.50 a month for a single person and $162.50 for a retired couple.

Contributions in the fiscal year ended last June 30 were 125 million dollars short of benefits and administrative costs. The shortage will increase to about 750 million dollars in the fiscal years before the contribution rate goes up in 1960.

Fullbright Hits Newsmen To China Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) Tuesday asked the Senate to go on record as favoring the right of newsmen to exercise their own independent judgment on whether to go to Red China or anywhere else.

Fulbright, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, offered a resolution he said would make clear that it is the function of the State Department "to assist, rather than hinder" the movement of American newsmen abroad.

The State Department has banned U.S. newsmen from visiting the Chinese mainland to cover developments behind the Bamboo Curtain. The ban has been the target of repeated congressional attacks.

Fulbright told the Senate the issue extends beyond the question of simply covering Red China to that of supporting the function of the press in providing "independent enlightenment of the people of the United States."

The other course, he said, is by "inhibitions, officials threats and reprisals" to reduce it "to the role of government-controlled tool of policy."

The effect of the State Department ban, he said, is to deny even Congress "data which newsmen might gather in China, data which might be of value in formulating policies with respect to this largest and most volatile country in Asia. "It is, in short, a head-in-the-sand doctrine, with the Department of State not only burying its own head, but insisting that the people of the country do the same."

Italian Admiral Washed Overboard In Storm

ROME (AP) — An Italian admiral was washed overboard and lost at sea during a storm which struck a small Italian naval yacht 25 miles northwest of Sardinia, reports said Tuesday.

The Defense Ministry said Adm. Marco Calami, 55, was swept from the deck when a large wave broke over the yacht, Artica II, which was en route from Italy to the Balaeric Islands.

U.S. Checking To See If Sterns Are Citizens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is making inquiries to determine whether Martha Dodd Stern and her millionaire husband have renounced their American citizenship.

The Sterns and their 12-year-old son are now in Prague, capital of Communist Czechoslovakia, and are carrying Paraguayan passports.

Mrs. Stern is the daughter of the late William E. Dodd who was U.S. ambassador to Germany.

The House committee on un-American activities announced earlier it had received testimony from Boris Morros, counterspy for the FBI, that the Sterns were members of a Soviet espionage ring.

A State Department spokesman said Tuesday he could neither confirm nor deny reports that the Sterns gave up their U.S. citizenship in Mexico before acquiring Paraguayan passports.

"We have no information on that," the spokesman said. "We are looking into it."

Before leaving Mexico the Sterns had faced possible extradition to the United States to testify before a federal grand jury in New York. The jury is investigating espionage.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Prague reported in Vienna Tuesday that Stern has been described as "fantastic" the charges that Mrs. Stern was a Red agent who once tried to betray Morros, the FBI undercover man, to the Russians.

This spokesman said the Sterns arrived in Prague July 21 and that Stern insists they are not fugitives, merely tourists.

State Department records show that Stern applied for a U.S. passport in 1951 but was refused. They also show that the Sterns both applied for passports at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow in February 1956. Officials said no passports were issued because the Sterns did not respond to a request to sign affidavits swearing that they had no affiliation with the Communist party.

Lodge asserted that a representative of a government "which promoted aggression by the creation in World War II of the Molotov-Ribbentrop pact; the representative of a government which committed the rape of Hungary—two events which bracket a long list of other brutalities—is in no position to speak sanctimoniously of foreign aggression—least of all to criticize the United States secretary of state."

The association is headed by Fleet Adm. William F. "Bull" Halsey Jr., who used the Enterprise as his flagship in the Pacific naval fighting.

Similar legislation was approved by the House Armed Services Committee, paving the way for early House action.

Record Sorghum Yield Looms Over State

Progress Of Corn 'Good To Excellent' Rain In Northeast, Southwest Needed

The corn crop made "good to excellent" progress last week, thanks to beneficial rains, and a record yield of sorghum is shaping up, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Corn prospects in southeast Nebraska particularly were improved by last week's rains, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics. Central Nebraska crop also was helped.

More rain is needed however, especially in northeast and southwest Nebraska, the division noted in its weekly crop report.

The rain also brought relief to sorghum in needy areas. Most sorghum is reported headed and stands are excellent in many areas.

Other crop report observations: Haying is in progress in all areas. The big wild hay crop has taken more time than usual to harvest.

Third Alfalfa Cutting

The third cutting of alfalfa is under way. Yields are above average in most areas, but in southeastern and southwestern counties, a low third-cutting tonnage because of past dry weather is being reported. Many fields in these areas are being left for seed.

Sugar beets and dry beans in the Panhandle continue to make good progress although blight has been reported in some fields.

Grasshopper infestation seemingly has slackened, although central and eastern farmers are spraying to slow the damage.

Pastures and range continue to furnish abundant feed for livestock, and range cattle continue to make excellent progress.

Cattle Shipments

In shipments of stocker and feeder cattle during July totaled 44,853, or five per cent above July of 1956. Sheep and lamb shipments in July reached 22,291, far above the 8,216 in the same period a year ago.

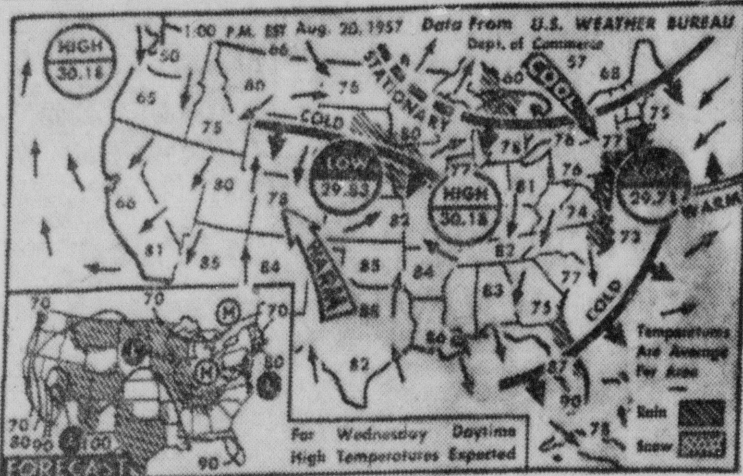

Rainfall throughout Nebraska during the past week included:

Grand Island	1.63	Norfolk	0.1
Lincoln	2.68	Omaha	1.76
Central Division	1.76
Burlington	1.8	Valentine	2.5
North Platte	1.51
Imperial	0.1	Sidney	0.3

Rainfall totals in the state this growing season (since April 1) continue to exceed normal in all areas.

The totals to Aug. 17, with long-time average figures for the period in parenthesis, include:

Northwest	15.00	(10.59)
North-Central	15.10	(12.46)
Northeast	14.92	(14.33)
Central	18.05	(13.32)
East-Central	20.54	(15.33)
Southwest	17.36	(11.85)
South-Central	20.29	(13.76)
Southeast	18.46	(16.49)

Plains States Expect Rain

Clear to partly cloudy skies will be the rule over most of the U. S. Wednesday except for rain in the Plains states, upper Mississippi and the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys. It will be cooler in Lakes region and New England; warmer in the Southeast and Far Northwest; continued hot in southern California and Arizona with temperatures expected to rise above the 100-degree level. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Search Called Off For Jet Reported Flying Very Low

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (P)—The Nebraska Safety Patrol Tuesday afternoon terminated the search for an unidentified jet aircraft reported flying low or landing near Brule, Neb.

Earlier in the day, a farmer near Brule called the North Platte filter center to report he saw the plane flying south over his place. He reported the plane as being 50 to 100 feet above the ground.

The safety patrol sent cars from Sidney, Ogallala and North Platte to scout the area involved. When nothing was found, the search was called off.

North Platte area Civil Air Patrol members also checked the area and the Lincoln Air Force Base rescue center was on alert in case of needed rescue missions.

MADISON, Neb. (P)—John T. McCarthy, Madison County sheriff since January, 1950, Tuesday submitted his resignation to county commissioners.

He said he is quitting Aug. 31 to enter business.

The commissioners plant to meet Aug. 27 to appoint a successor.

Mass Funeral Planned For Fire Victims

SIDNEY, Neb. (P) — A mass funeral will be held Wednesday morning for four victims of the fire which burned out the George Kittleman home near here Monday.

The victims were Kittleman, his wife and 15-month-old daughters, Gloria Mae and Violet Virginia, and Harley Sinclair, 17, son of Mrs. Kittleman by a former marriage.

The funeral was to be held at Craig mortuary. Burial will be in Sidney.

Mrs. Kittleman, the sole survivor of the early morning blaze, remained in critical condition in a Sidney hospital Tuesday.

Intelligent Slash In Government Spending Urged

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Hruska of Nebraska, said that "the more we can cut government spending intelligently the better off we will be."

Hruska cited political pressure against credit restrictions and cuts in government spending, and commented "this opposition sometimes is expressed against the so-called tight money supply. The fact is that the money supply now is great. Savings are at an all-time high."

Hruska said these critics only propose to peg interest rates artificially low by government decree. This, he said, was tried between 1939 and 1952, "with disastrous results." He said the dollar then lost half its purchasing power.

Escapade Of Two 6-Year-Olds Nearly Has A Tragic Ending

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (P)—Two small boys wound up an escapade which nearly ended in tragedy at 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Missing from their homes since 11 o'clock Monday morning, the boys were found when a police car struck a cardboard box in which one of the boys was sleeping.

Police Chief Joe Bosler identified the boys as Robert Ruzicka, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ruzicka, and Larry Holmes, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Jensen.

Their disappearance had not been reported to officials.

The chief told this story: The boys told Mrs. Ruzicka they were going to a nearby dairy for ice cream Monday morning. They then went to a movie. Afterward, walking through an alley, they found some large cardboard boxes and decided to sleep in them.

At about 6 a.m. Tuesday, Police Officers George Ferguson and Richard Kleve made a regular run through the alley. The police car, moving slowly, struck a cardboard box and it wedged beneath the vehicle. The officers heard a child crying, got out and found young Ruzicka beneath the car.

He was taken to a hospital, where he was reported not seriously hurt. Young Holmes, who had been in another box, was returned home.

Bosler said a garbage truck had been following the police car, and added that the dual wheels on that vehicle could have killed the boys had it run over the boxes.
